

Why work at IGE ?

Ingenuity. Innovation. Initiative

At InterGlobal Exhibits (IGE), we recognize that designing and manufacturing truly exceptional environments such as high end trade show exhibits and corporate events, requires more than the sum total of it's parts – it takes great people. Whether it's design, management or engineering, accounting or manufacturing, we believe that every position in every area is highly important to our company's success, and the success of our clients.

Our high-performance culture emphasizes creativity and high-integrity business practices. It has been key to IGE's success ever since Gino Pellegrini, an award-winner international designer and entrepreneur, started the company in the early 90's. Today, IGE is an award-winning firm recognized for its powerful designs, world-class reach, processes and talented employees.

To carry on our tradition as one of the world's best exhibit firms, we are always looking for individuals who value ingenuity, innovation and initiative as much as we do. We need people who are crazy about impressive cutting-edge design and effective solutions to our clients' needs and know the meaning of customer satisfaction. We need people who feel comfortable working on several projects at once. It takes a certain personality – maybe that's why most of our employees have been with the company for years.

Combining a challenging yet inspirational workplace, competitive benefits package and sales backlog in the millions, you'll gain more than just a job at IGE. You'll find a fulfilling career to be proud of - one you can build upon the rest of your life.
